Who We Are

Since 1994, Amazon has evolved from a single retail website to become a global development platform as well as an e-commerce and publishing partner/

Innovation is in our DNA and we constantly seek out the world's brightest technology minds to research and develop new solutions to improve the lives of our customers: shoppers, sellers, content creators, and developers around the world.

Because that's what being Earth's most customer-centric company is all about, and it's still Day One at Amazon.
